(HOME)
DIRECTED BY MARVIN CABANGUNAY, JAYNUS OLAIVAR
SHORT FEATURE CATEGORY

LOGLINE: A father seeks to bring his murdered son home.

SYNOPSIS: Amidst the grief, anger and injustice, Mang Jerry works frantically to find enough money to get his son who is a victim of extra judicial killings out of the funeral home.

FILMMAKERS PROFILES: MARVIN CABANGUNAY earned his degree in communication at the Colegio de San Juan de Letran. His past works competed in different interschool competitions, and won awards in various film festivals such as Adamson's Realifim, Sine Tomasino, UP Piling Obra at Video, and 28th Gawad CCP Para sa Alternatibong Pelikula at Video. JAYNUS BARBEE OLAIVAR finished her degree in communication at the Colegio De San Juan De Letran. A self-confessed fan of local cinema, particularly indie films, she advocates to promote Philippine cinema. Their film "Nakauwi Na," a requirement for their film class, is actually inspired by true stories of the victims of extrajudicial killings. The directors dedicate this film to EJK victims who didn't get the justice they deserve.
